Course Description

This 4-unit CR/NC practicum course prepares Creative Writing graduate students to take the MFA Comprehensive exam; also to develop and begin writing an MFA thesis. The practicum will provide a forum for peer review to assist MFA candidates as they customize the MFA exam reading list and prepare to take the MFA comprehensive exam. The practicum will also provide a forum for MFA candidates for drafting the thesis abstract and thesis preface. MFA candidates will consult with their individual thesis directors and thesis readers on their Thesis Committees at the start of the semester to create a thesis completion plan. The candidates will be guided by their MFA thesis directors during the semester, sharing thesis drafts with other students in the same primary genre via Canvas. Students will post texts of their thesis abstracts and introductions and portions of their thesis project. During the semester, students will receive comments on their drafts from other MFA candidates working in the same genre, and from the candidate's thesis director and thesis readers.

Course Goals and Student Learning Objectives

Course Goals:

A degree candidate in the MFA program must complete a book-length work of publishable quality in the candidate’s primary genre (or a full length play or screenplay). Also, an MFA candidate must demonstrate a substantial ability to articulate and analyze the literary influences on his/her writing. To gain such an understanding, MFA candidates will accomplish the following objectives in this practicum course:

- Devise an MFA thesis completion plan, assisted by your thesis director.
- Customize the MFA exam reading list to prepare for taking the MFA comprehensive exam, consulting with your thesis director.
- Take the Fall MFA comprehensive exam, or sign up to take the Spring MFA exam.
- Write an MFA thesis abstract—may be revised if your thesis project changes substantially after you finish writing it.
- Write an introduction to your thesis, reflecting on and analyzing important literary influences on your writing. Base your introduction on your MFA thesis proposal. Post your thesis introduction on Canvas for other candidates to read on comment on.
- Revise MFA abstract and thesis introduction in response to peers’ and thesis committee members’ comments.
- Post sections (chapters, scenes, poems, etc.) of your thesis on Canvas for other MFA candidates in the practicum to read and comment on.
- Consult during the semester with your MFA director and thesis readers on the progress you’re making to complete your thesis manuscript.
- Submit portions of your thesis manuscript to journals for publication.

Learning Objectives:

Upon successful completion of this course, students will be able to:

Student Learning Objectives:	Skills/Knowledge Acquired:	Activities:
SLO 1: Students will demonstrate a high-level of ability to write and complete a publishable, full-length work of literature in a primary genre concentration (fiction, creative non-fiction, poetry, or a scriptwriting).	1. Recognize what makes a successful MFA thesis abstract and introduction. 2. Recognize what material works for your MFA thesis; recognize what material needs to be revised.	1. Write an MFA thesis abstract and thesis introduction. 2. Draft material (chapters, stories, scenes, essays, poems, etc.) for your MFA thesis. 3. Comment on peer’s MFA thesis sections posted to peer group forums on Canvas.
SLO 3: Students will demonstrate an appropriate level of knowledge of literary history, literary theory, and craft and theory of creative writing.	1. Recognize historically relevant trends in modern and contemporary works of creative writing (fiction, nonfiction, poetry, and dramatic writing).	1. Read works from the MFA exam reading lists (in candidate’s primary and secondary genre) to prepare for taking the MFA exam.

	2. Identify developments within creative writing genres, and the development of individual authors and schools/styles of writing.	2. Research works and authors which have significantly influenced the MFA candidate's thesis project. 3. Self-selected candidates take the Fall MFA exam.
SLO 4: Students will demonstrate critical and analytical skills in the evaluation and interpretation of literary texts.	1. Apply and improve close reading skills. 2. Recognize and apply formal terms to describe and analyze literary elements and qualities in the works read. 3. Apply close reading skills to evaluate the quality of peers' and published literary texts.	1. Read texts from the MFA exam reading list under the supervision of MFA thesis director. 2. Take the Fall MFA exam or prepare to take Spring MFA exam. 3. Write introduction to your MFA thesis. 4. Write MFA thesis introduction works cited list.
SLO 5: Students will demonstrate a command of written academic English, including the abilities to: a) organize and present material in a cogent fashion; b) formulate and defend original arguments; c) employ effectively the language of their discipline; d) write under time constraints.	1. Recognize elements necessary to be present in a successful MFA thesis abstract and MFA thesis introduction. 2. Recognize rhetorical and literary elements, and literary styles used in successful literary essays commenting on works by modern and contemporary authors. 3. Understand criteria used for evaluation of MFA exam essays.	1. Write an MFA thesis abstract and MFA thesis introduction, and post on Canvas for peer comments and comments by MFA thesis director and thesis committee members. 2. Close read works on candidate's customized MFA exam reading list. 3. Self-selected students to take the Fall MFA exam; others prepare to take and sign up for the Spring MFA exam.

Course Methods and Activities:

At the start of the practicum course, the group of MFA candidates enrolled will meet face-to-face with the practicum supervisor for a group course orientation. Each candidate will subsequently meet with and coordinate their semester's activities with their individual MFA thesis directors and thesis committee members. Each candidate will work with their individual MFA thesis director to devise a thesis completion schedule. Each candidate will also work with their MFA thesis director to customize their MFA exam reading lists, and to determine when (Fall or Spring term) they will take the MFA comprehensive exam. Each candidate will prepare for their MFA exam, making notes on the works they've chosen from the reading lists. During the semester, the MFA candidates in the course will write portions of their MFA theses, including their thesis abstract, thesis introduction, and portions of the creative work that shall comprise the primary substance of their thesis manuscript.

Practicum Symposiums: Visits from Writers, Editors, and Publishers:

The practicum will occasionally host symposiums by Bay Area and West Coast literary professionals who will make brief presentations and take part in Q & A about matters pertinent to the course material. Some presentations will be made in live face-to-face meetings; others will be conducting remotely via digital technology.

Grading

This course is graded on a CR/NC basis.

Completing the practicum projects according to candidates’ thesis completion plan will result in a CR grade. Not completing the projects will result in a NC grade.

Workload

Success in this course is based on the expectation that students will spend, for each unit of credit, a minimum of 45 hours over the length of the course (normally 3 hours per unit per week) for reading works in preparation for the MFA comprehensive exams; meeting with thesis directors and committee members; drafting and re-writing creative material and the introduction for the MFA thesis; and participating in other course related activities. Other graduate course structures will have equivalent workload expectations as described in the syllabus (see SJSU Academic Senate Policy S12 - 3).

Because this is a 4-unit course, students can expect to spend a minimum of twelve hours per week preparing doing the reading, writing, and online Canvas participation expected for this class and completing required course activities. Careful time management will be required to maintain an intensive schedule of reading and writing appropriate for this course, to comment on work posted by other MFA students writing a thesis in the same genre as yours, and allowing sufficient to during the semester to complete an MFA thesis draft on schedule.
