Be Prepared

Emergency Planning for People with Disabilities ensures safety during emergencies by addressing accessibility concerns. This includes planning for communication, medical needs, and evacuation tailored to an individual. It's vital for those with disabilities to register with SJSU's Accessible Education Center (AEC) for personalized emergency plans and support.

Accessible Education Center

- The Accessible Education Center (AEC) at San Jose State University provides comprehensive services in support of the educational development and success of student with disabilities.
- Visit their website via the QR code at right and register with the AEC in order to receive the proper accommodations.

EvacuTracs

- Alongside the Accessible Education Center (AEC), we can tailor emergency response and preparedness to meet the unique needs of people with disabilities.
- The office of Emergency Management works to bring awareness for mobility assistance like EvacuTracs through our trainings. Request to bring our training to your group via:
